Washington, D.C. Office Expansion and Move

Roetzel & Andress is pleased to announce a major expansion in its Washington, D.C. office, as well as a new location. During the past year, the Washington office has grown from one to eight lawyers. Roetzel & Andress expanded from 210 to 230 lawyers, firm wide. Three of the new Washington, D.C. partners have joined the International Law Group bringing with them considerable international experience.

Steven D. Cundra joined on March 7, 2007. Mr. Cundra has experience in a number of practice areas, including administrative law, domestic and international corporate and business services, government contracts and relations, government audits and investigations, government grants, domestic and international litigation and arbitration, and professional malpractice. Through his 32 years in practice, he has garnered a national reputation in defending federal OIG audits and investigations, particularly by the U.S. Departments of Labor, Treasury, and Health and Human Services, and in prosecuting non-selection actions and appeals.

Donald R. Dinan, who joined on March 23, 2007, works extensively in international trade law. His focus includes Trade Dispute Resolution before the International Trade Commission, particularly in protection of intellectual property rights, the Department of Commerce (antidumping and countervailing duty cases, unfair trade actions), United States Trade Representative (USTR) and in the Federal Courts including the Court of International Trade. Mr. Dinan also works on import and export licensing matters, customs enforcement, and international business transactions. He also focuses on Federal Court litigation, transnational litigation and international arbitration. Mr. Dinan represents numerous clients in the District of Columbia including local government entities in civil and commercial litigation in the Courts of the District of Columbia.

The latest addition is Craig A. Koenigs, who joined on February 1, 2008. Mr. Koenigs has a broad practice related to administrative law, international trade, intellectual property law and commercial litigation. His regulatory practice focuses on assisting clients in compliance, enforcement and licensing matters involving the import and export of various goods. These activities include advising clients regarding export controls, sanctions programs and customs laws. He has a particular niche expertise in ATF and TTB regulatory compliance and enforcement matters related to alcohol, tobacco, firearms and explosives. Mr. Koenigs also provides intellectual property services including trademark and copyright prosecution and advisory services.

In addition to this exciting expansion, Roetzel & Andress moved its Washington, D.C. office location, and is now located in the heart of central business district. The new address is:

1300 Eye Street N.W.
Suite 400 East

Our International Business Law attorneys have assisted U.S. companies in the execution of their inward investment strategies in key financial centers and developing countries around the world. In so doing, we have successfully involved the assistance of various other members of Consulegis. We also represent foreign companies in their establishment of U.S. distribution and other logistics networks, as well as their acquisition, disposition, and operation of subsidiary holdings in the U.S. In addition, we counsel domestic clients in the acquisition, divestiture, and operation of foreign entities. We work closely with our clients to develop strategic growth plans, anticipate and resolve legal issues, construct efficient tax structures, and manage transaction negotiations, mergers and acquisitions.

Our team offers experienced transaction, litigation, and arbitration counsel across a broad scope of matters. We represent domestic, foreign, and cross-border companies that are privately held or publicly listed on foreign exchanges around the world. These clients include manufacturers of industrial and consumer products, distributors, transporters, and service companies in both high-tech and more traditional businesses.

Law Firm and Lawyer Recognitions

Roetzel & Andress is ranked #191 on the NLJ 250 list. This listing is The National Law Journal's 30th annual survey of the nation's largest law firms, based on total number of attorneys and covering the period of October 1, 2006 to September 30, 2007. Roetzel & Andress saw an increase in 12% from 2006 to 2007. We are proud to have 37 attorneys honored as "Best Lawyers." Best Lawyers has become universally regarded as the definitive guide to legal excellence. Because Best Lawyers is based on an exhaustive peer-review survey in which more than 25,000 leading attorneys cast almost two million votes on the legal abilities of other lawyers in their specialties, and because lawyers are not required or allowed to pay a fee to be listed, inclusion in Best Lawyers is considered a singular honor. Additionally, 35 attorneys recognized as "Ohio Super Lawyers." To be chosen as an "Ohio Super Lawyer," attorneys first are nominated by their peers as being outstanding in the profession, based on first-hand knowledge of the top lawyers within the state. Nominees then are evaluated by a blue ribbon panel representing more than 70 areas of practice, and final selections are made. Attorneys chosen as "Ohio Super Lawyers" represent 5% of the Ohio Bar.
