By minimising language and cultural barriers, a CONSULEGIS membership offers in-house counsel both value for money and the opportunity to create strong relationships with overseas advisors.

WHAT IS CONSULEGIS?

CONSULEGIS is an international network of independent law firms, in-house lawyers and related professional advisors.

Established in 1990 in Hamburg, Germany, CONSULEGIS now includes members in more than 45 countries and 150 cities globally, and aims to provide members with international legal resources, emphasizing the importance of professionalism, mutual trust and friendship. Ultimately, CONSULEGIS aims to arm its members with the ability to refer clients to trusted colleagues in all corners of the commercial world.

CONSULEGIS seeks to attract and include members in cities across the world that it considers to be of strategic, commercial and economic importance, in an effort to allow each firm to enhance its legal footprint, based on international resources. English is the official language and member firms are admitted on the basis of quality, reputation, size and volume of international work.

CONSULEGIS members are used to working with, and providing legal support to, in-house counsel, with some lawyers in member firms having previously worked as in-house counsel themselves.

HOW CAN WE HELP?

We understand the challenges and issues that in-house counsel can face, and the demands that need to be met.

Working with us will provide you with several commercial advantages, including:

■ COMMERCIAL VALUE

Our ability to call upon the expertise of lawyers across the world, who have built collaborative working relationships, will give you the ability to demonstrate commercial value and specific benefits to your employer.

■ BUILDING RELATIONSHIPS OVERSEAS

We can provide in-house lawyers the opportunity to attend conferences and liaise with CONSULEGIS members informally, developing a mutual understanding and a reliable international network of external legal advisers.

■ OPTIMISING EXTERNAL LEGAL ADVICE

Our approach ensures that members take the time to understand the context for advice, ensuring that it is legally correct and commercially relevant. Our conferences provide an ideal forum for lawyers from different jurisdictions to share knowledge, leading to better informed and effective collaborations.

■ VALUE FOR MONEY

Legal budgets across the world are tight, but we can demonstrate that we are good value, without compromising on quality. In most cases, our members are able to offer harmonised fee structures in multi-jurisdiction transactions.

■ QUALITY OF SERVICE

We work with in-house counsel on a case by case basis, finding a structure to provide international advice in a form that is best for them, and complies with best and regulatory practice. In multi-jurisdiction transactions, one member firm will act as the lead firm to project manage the transaction with you.

■ LANGUAGE

Advice is delivered in English, or the language that best suits the client.
